The Kelley Library now offers wireless printing for laptop users on site.

Please be aware that this service may not work with all devices or operating systems. If you are having difficulty, please see a member of the staff at the Reference Desk.

*Windows 7 users! Before you begin, you may need to change User Account Controls. Go to Start, Type in “UAC.” At the pop-up screen, move the slider bar down to “Never Notify.” Reboot your computer.

Instructions for wireless printing:

1. Visit http://192.168.0.200:30044/clientlauncher and download the print client to your laptop from our library WiFi. (Click “Run” and override any security prompts)
2. After you run the program, you will see a box pop-up which says “EnvisionWare LPT:One.” This means that you are now connected to the program which will allow you to print wirelessly.
3. When you are ready to print, simply click your print button, then select the “Black & White Printer on 192.168.0.220” and hit the “Print” button.
4. You will be asked to provide a log-in name. Any name will do. You will then be told how much your job will cost. Once you agree, your job will be sent to the Print Release Station located in near the elevator in the Reference Department. You can log in there with the same login name you used to create your print job. Then simply pay and print!

Please be aware that if you print multiple documents you may only be asked to name the first job. The system will automatically name subsequent print jobs with the name you gave the first document you printed.

You can stop the EnvisionWare LPT:One print client at any time. Or you can leave it running and send multiple jobs to the printer during your stay here at the library. Be assured that the software does not remain on your computer – when you are done printing, the software is removed.
